TO CARRY OUT PREMIER STALIN'S ORDER

Russian Army Wins 1942 Year Of Final Nazi Defeat

German Spring Offensive Threats "Jester's Tale"; New Soviet Drive Bears

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, May 4.—(AP)—Red army forces all along the 2,000-mile front took Sunday to carry out Joseph Stalin's order to make 1942 the year of final defeat for the Germans amid indications the Russians are planning their own spring offensive.

"Special conditions of spring in which fields checked the advance of the Red army undoubtedly will change," said the official Communist newspaper "Pravda" "Even more active military operations will begin."

The Red army will carry on the offensive in the spring.

Premier Stalin's May Day order was read at meetings of troops after which the men pledged themselves to fulfill it. In the Southwest front troops, guarding the approaches to the vital Caucasus oil fields, were reported to have "declared unanimously that their leaders' order is binding and that they will do everything to fulfill it."

VOW TO KEEP FAITH
Western front were taken to "remain faithful to the country and fight the enemy even to the last drop of blood."

Similar meetings of civilian workers were held in the Orel and Kursk provinces where spring construction and planting is under way.

The front momentarily required only the only active reports to be sent to the Red army headquarters.

German used tanks and troops, inflicting, indicating they were determined to improve their position even in these small-scale engagements.

LAST NAZI KILLED
There were no significant changes at the front Saturday night, the Soviet command reported. It added that 1,500 Germans were killed on the Leningrad front and 100 prisoners, arms and equipment were captured.

On the western front before Moscow 200 attacking Germans were slain and in the Kalinin sector the Soviet command reported that 100 Germans were killed.

There was an editorial commenting on Stalin's instruction that Red army men learn all uses of their weapons, called the order "a concrete program for action."

With the troops armed with first class material and with knowledge of its use, they will beat the German Fascist beastie even in the winter, spring and summer than in the winter," Pravda said.

1942 will be a year of complete defeat of the enemy border.

D'NEBRET COMMUNIQUE
A half-column text dispatch from Geneva reported the meeting of Hitler and Mussolini and the discussion of the Axis common strategy as well as the military and political situation.

The dispatch quoted Swiss circles as interpreting the meeting as a decision for Hitler to present "a number of new demands" to the Axis partners for additional financial and military aid.

Hitler was represented as promising Italy compensation for its "financial aid" and that Italy would be paid for its "financial aid" in the future.

Spanish Cabinet Facing Shake-Up

By British United Press

A cabinet shake-up is imminent in Spain, with mounting army, monarchist and Conservative opposition to close collaboration with Germany, private but reliable advice from Europe said today.

These advisers reported that there had been serious interchanges between the army and the Falange, the official nationalist political organization, and that an attempt had been made to kill Jose Antonio Gil, minister of labor.

According to the adviser Ramon Serrano, a senior Falange politician, the army is in a critical condition in the post-war shake-up.

London heard that Serrano was sent to Rome to fill the post of ambassador which has been vacant for months.

Reports said the army was likely to get important posts in a new cabinet, which would be strongly Conservative in complexion, and that Dr. Quiza, Spanish ambassador to Brazil, would be brought home to head the Falange party.

Some 6,000 men of the national "Blue Division" who went to the Russian front as volunteers to fight against Russia have been reported to be in a critical condition.

The advisers, and nearly all the others have been sent home.

Typical of animosity between the army and the Falange, according to informants, was this incident: On April 13, the Falange, while in Madrid, hailing the "friendship" between the army and the Falange, the Falange hailed a soldier and a Falangist shaking hands.

The incident, however, was a practical expression. We must begin to work out the implications of the incident, and see how they can be applied after the war.

As comrades we have fought the war, comrades we let us plan peace.

British Bombs, Torpedoes Frustrate Axis Plan For Massed Naval Offensive

LONDON, May 4.—(AP)—The elusive German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau and the heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen are definitely out of action and must undergo extensive repairs, authorities announced yesterday. A heavy blow has thus been struck to Axis hopes for simultaneous world-wide attacks against the fleets of the United Nations.

British Subs, Planes Strike Axis Convoys

By LARRY ALLEN

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 4.—(AP)—A British naval spokesman declared Saturday night that the Mediterranean fleet submarines and aircraft had intensified with "good results" his campaign against Axis convoys bound for the Libyan army of Marshal Erwin Rommel.

The principal activity in the Mediterranean is now the offensive action of our submarines, however, the spokesman said, "the heavy bombers are giving increasingly heavy protection," he declared.

STRONG PROTECTION

"Enemy convoys usually are now protected by at least one battleship in addition to cruisers and destroyers," he said.

The spokesman said there was no confirmation of reports that the Nazis have 40,000 parachute troops ready for the invasion of Sicily, Syria, the Red Sea, Egypt, Cyprus and even mainland Turkey.

He declined to discuss reports that the United States fleet was entering the Mediterranean to reinforce the British squadrons. (President Roosevelt, however, said in his world-wide broadcast Tuesday night that parts of the United States fleet were in the Mediterranean.)

JAP MOVES

In the Indian ocean, the spokesman said he had no knowledge of Japanese fleet action extending beyond Ceylon at the tip of Indian peninsula, or of Japanese moves to get bases from Vichy, France in the huge Indian Ocean. He said the Japanese fleet was in the western reaches of the Indian ocean.

The spokesman said "the navy is again keeping the Tobruk garrison in Libya well supplied" and "is giving any large scale enemy assault."

He increased Nazi U-boat activity against British and allied shipping off the Turkish and Syrian coasts had diminished steadily after a U-boat counter-attack was increased.

"Malta still is being harassed and is hammering back hard," he declared.

WANT ACTION All-Out Conscription Debate On Men, Wealth Industry Is Now Near

By C. R. BLACKBURN

OTTAWA, May 4.—(CP)—Parliament seems headed for a debate on all-out conscription of manpower and, coupled with that, conscription of wealth and industry.

Whether it is to come in the course of current discussion of the war appropriation bill or on a specific measure remains to be seen.

Debate on the war appropriation bill, which opens the way for discussion of every aspect of the war effort, will be continued today.

By agreement the order of procedure on this measure was to discuss war affairs first, then the navy and air force, with munitions and supply and national war services following. Mr. Bennett, the chief of the large questions and suggestions on army matters must be on the basis of the total Canadian force in the plebiscite freeing the government from its non-competition pledge by a great majority, it was up to parliament to act.

He suggested an amendment to the National Reserves Mobilization Act, removing section 3 which provides that men called up under the act shall not be required to serve outside Canada or its territorial waters.

Immediately after the plebiscite, when the house resumed last Thursday afternoon, Conservative House Leader Hanson referred to the plebiscite vote and said:

"Now there is no stumbling block to the total war effort. The hour has struck when every human and material resource must be mobilized for war service. Parliament is now free to act. There are no fetters upon the Prime Minister or his government. Let us act and act now."

AWAIT FINAL RETURNS

To this the Prime Minister replied that he wished to wait until final plebiscite returns had been received to the house before discussing the vote. It is expected the government will hold a caucus Wednesday to discuss the situation in the light of the plebiscite results.

"In due course the government will make known to the house what action it proposes to take in the light of the plebiscite vote of yesterday," Mr. King said.

There were signs during the debate that the opposition does not propose to wait much longer in the matter of propagating a discussion on this question.

CONSCRIPT WEALTH

When the debate does arise the government will not oppose full conscription of wealth. It will demand that wealth and industry must also be conscripted.

This was made clear by M. J. Coldwell, house leader of the C.C.F., in his statement in the press immediately after the result of the plebiscite was known.

It is expected the New Democracy group will support any move to make it possible for men and women would have to couple it with measures designed to make full use of the resources controlled over money and credit along the lines they have been advanced since 1938.

Thus the debate would, in the main, line up the great majority of house members all agreed against the relatively small group, mostly Quebec Liberals, who would be expected to oppose conscription for service overseas.

Cabinet changes are said to be in the making with announcements expected shortly. Prime Minister Mackenzie King was asked in the house Thursday by Ligouri Laforce (N.D.N., Laval-Town Mount) "Is it the government's intention at this decisive hour to

Lloydminster Up Red Cross List

LLOYDMINSTER.—Recent report of the Saskatchewan division of the Red Cross showed that Lloydminster, with its auxiliary branches, headed the list in the number of quilts and blankets forwarded during 1941, with the exception of the cities. It was also first in the number of garments sent for bombed victims. The report gave credit to the women of Lloydminster and the auxiliary branches for the work done.

Harold Gordon Miller, 48, former postmaster of Lloydminster, died at his home here recently. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Miller he was born at Marshburg, Ont., in 1893 moved with his parents to Edmonton staying there for two years before moving to Lloydminster. Running up to catch a ball that the latter threw with his back, Kavanagh was on the side of his nose, a shattered cheek bone and a cut mouth. Dr. E. E. Tomashewsky attended him and he is later taken to the University General Hospital by John Thachuk.

Hitler Speech May Be Screen For Invasion

LONDON, May 4.—(CP)—A Canadian Broadcasting Corporation commentator, speaking in the Reichstag speech last Sunday as an anti-concentrated speech, designed to screen bold strategic moves, said last night Germany may attempt a surprise blow at Britain any time now—perhaps tonight.

The commentator, Bob Bowman of Ottawa, said in the CBC's "Canadian News Review" broadcast a Berlin-directed invasion attempt may be "the big story behind the news" this week. Bowman, recently returned to Britain, declared talks with the managing editor of a British newspaper convinced him that when Hitler "stood up and hinted at impending defeat" in his Reichstag speech, he was only trying to pull the wool over our eyes. Bowman did not identify the British editor. "It's just the old army game," he said.

EAST CRISIS PASSED
The commentator declared Hitler has passed his most critical period in Russia. He had avoided "most disastrous reverse" of the campaign but he was not likely to throw another 3,000,000 men into the battle.

As the portents of a possible German invasion, Bowman pointed to the presence of German troops in the German General von Rundstedt, described as "Hitler's best military genius." He said that Rundstedt was in western Europe to organize Channel defenses.

These seem logical from Hitler's best thinking general? Bowman asked.

Germany had 750,000 troops on the west coast of Europe, including "hundreds of panzer units," Bowman said. "Heavy enemy field units were concentrated at Tondern and other coastal bases."

BATTLESHIPS OUT
The British Admiralty announced tonight that the British battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst and the heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen are definitely out of action and must undergo extensive repairs.

Germany must attack Britain before the Americans get over into Europe, the commentator said. Bowman added that he thought invasion would be a surprise move to most Britons, although morale was good. The visit to Britain of George C. Marshall, the United States war was taken as a "gesture of action" in the United Kingdom.

He said he did not share the belief Canadian opinion was overvalued. They would constitute "hand-thumping" against invasion.

Britain's tradition of administration, experience and co-operation between free and equal people can make a valuable and effective contribution to post-war reconstruction in China. Endicott, United Church missionary in China, is the author. He is a member of the staff of the New Life Movement in China, said in an interview in Edmonton.

Rev. Mr. Endicott, who was born in China and lived there until the age of ten, when he came to Canada to attend school and university, spent the past 16 years in Chungking. Mr. Endicott asserted that the Chinese people are thoroughly impressed with the astounding success of Russia against Hitler and the "implied success of Russian industrial development in the past 20 years has completely dazzled the exploited and oppressed people of Europe." It has brought about an entirely new mentality, and must lead to a check on monopolies and vested interests, he said.

OUST FUEHRER Nazi Army Chiefs Opposed To Hitler "Framed" Escape Of Giraud, Paper Charges

LONDON, May 4.—(CP)—Free French sources said last night Vichy authorities would not dare to turn General Henri Honoré Giraud over to the Germans from whom he escaped recently, and the widely-read Reynolds News declared the general escaped with the connivance of the German high command.

In his most prominently displayed front page Reynolds said Sunday that Giraud had been allowed to escape from the Korfisheim fortress where he had been held since the capitulation of France and that the German general staff now is "practically unshaken in its opposition to the 'Framing' of Giraud."

Quoting sources "which in the past have proved reliable," Reynolds said an influential section of German industrialists is attempting to form a Catholic opposition to Hitler. "Through German representatives in the Vichy government," he said, "they have tried to make contact with the Allies," the newspaper said, adding: "They are prepared to offer the restoration of democratic government after Hitler is overthrown."

Reynolds quoted a Swiss source as saying that Heinrich Himmler, chief of the Gestapo, found a list of names of industrialists who were preparing to take over from Hitler and escape to France. Hitler, the Swiss source said, was given the list before he made his escape from Vichy.

NEW BLOOD PURGE
Propaganda being spread throughout Germany that Hitler is about to deal with "corrupt and cowardly profiteers and traitors" who are holding up the war effort is regarded in some quarters as a preliminary to a new blood purge. The purge would be directed against those who are regarded as "traitors" and "corrupt and cowardly profiteers and traitors" who are holding up the war effort.

It added that all these stories must be regarded as "propaganda" and that the German government is "not to be taken seriously" in its statements.

Of Giraud, head of two wars, Free French sources said he was determined to protect himself. He said he was determined to protect himself. He said he was determined to protect himself.

BILL FINDS BASEBALL BOOMING LIKE A DRUM

NEW YORK, May 4.—(AP)—From the evidence to date, sports are booming like the big drum in an old-fashioned town. The baseball crowds have been hitting unprecedented figures. A lot of things could have happened here. Condemnation because of war psychology is one. Another is lack of interest because some of the brightest stars, and enough of the satellites to form a major constellation, are now doing it largely.

Maybe it's partly a cobbling-up of old men and infatuation with the fact, in the southern League they are calling it "pump, or game time." The "Children's Hour" says that the customers are attending. They are likely getting some red-hot merchandise. Maybe it's better than it was because it's worse than it was. After all, precision and perfection grow monotonous.

There's no point in trying to explain it or to analyze it. Maybe the crowds are bigger because they feel they're better liked at it while they can. That's never announced on the draft, the one that says men with dependents will soon be ordered up, but undoubtedly gathered in the borderline cases, and baseball has several, such as the one of the little star who on the civilian home front because his play makes only $25 a week.

NO BETTER WAY TO SPEND TIME OFF

I've asked around and about from strangers as well as friends and have discovered that the average citizen amongst the customers seems to be that they, the customers, feel that they're done, and are doing, all they can to help the main issue, and that they're entitled to a little aureole upon occasion from it all.

Three separate times I've run into a cluster of defense workers, the heavy-handed variety actually turning out the year, and they've said they were there for the year, at all, but that their hours are so staggered that they can't have this particular afternoon off. They couldn't think of a more pleasant or refreshing way to spend it, they said, nor further removed from the clatter and din of the riveting hammer. That last didn't seem to be a dirty catch, either.

I finished over four rows to meet in beside a gentleman who was justly bawling Joe DiMaggio. He seemed to be pulling so much heart into this type of work, and to be putting such obvious pride and inflection from it, that I figured he might be expressing a conviction to the effect that the coming summer of the class of a former athlete dredges ought to be taking orders from some top-notch assistant of Joe McCarthy.

FAN WAS ANTI-DIMAGGIO VARIETY

The gentleman proved to be a client to get into conversation with in the princely manner of the connection was to get out of it again. He was a night club in a snuff cut, I discovered, and was in the service and a war record "C" man.

His place is near a factory now making something for the army. Customers, mostly men, are working, but he was a pretty smart gent, for he was studiously in the about such lines. I hadn't presented any credentials or offered any explanations about my own line of work, but he was confident what I was aiming at. So for a while, I knew, it was for a better customer.

I hawshawed it pretty cleverly.

Arsenal Holds Brentford To 0-0 Draw In Semi-Final

LONDON, May 4.—(CP)—Before a great crowd of 41,000, one of the biggest since the war started, Arsenal and Brentford played a scoreless draw Sunday in their semi-final of the London Football War Cup competition.

The Stamford Bridge game produced a here in March, England's international goalkeeper, who scored Arsenal from three free-kicks. From Scott at fullback also was outstanding in Arsenal. The teams will meet again May 16 with the winner playing Portsmouth May 20 in the final.

West Bromwich, Wolverhampton, Sunderland and Grimsby Town qualified for the semi-finals of the football league war cup. The semi-finals will be played on May 16 and home-base with games on May 9 and 10.

West Bromwich scored a smashing victory Sunday over Everton by 3-1 before a crowd of 31,000 to win the football league war cup. Arsenal defeated Brentford 4-0 a week ago and secured entry to the semi-finals by holding Bradford to a 2-2 tie Saturday. West Bromwich and Sunderland will meet in one semi-final round.

Manchester United, beaten 1-0 a week ago by Norwich City, came back to win 2-0 and capture the round 2-1. Manchester United was led to Manchester City, but advanced through last week's 2-1 victory.

DEVIL DIVER SIXTH, REQUESTED FOURTEENTH SCOUT OUT, SON OF EQUIPOISE WINS Derby

Asab Finishes Strong For Place

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 4.—(AP)—A dream came true along Churchill Downs' stretch Saturday when a chocolate scout of a great chocolate daddy won the richest Kentucky Derby of them all.

Eleven years after a last-minute breakdown robbed his daddy, Equipoise, of his chance at the neck of roses, Mrs. Payne Whitney's out son ran his heart out in a mighty stretch stride to win for his famous father.

All the long way down the stretch he went all out, and finished his wire 2 1/4 lengths in front of Asab, little juvenile champion of last year. It was a double-breasted triumph for the "Bum" of Mrs. Whitney's Greenlee stable, whose name was wished on him because of the fact his daddy was a Brooklyn Dodger fan. For even as the field of 13—largest since War Admiral whipped 19 others in 1937—started to the post the Greenlee stable boys still regarded Asab's son as only its second best, not the equal of his daddy, Devil Diver.

SEATTLE WAGERED The betters, who poured $631,198 into the mutuel machines on the derby alone, made the most favorable at $5.80 for 2-1 because of what they thought.

The Greenlee combination received $3,800 and to about Asab paid off $620 and $440 won $21,000 in Valinda opinion, who finished third or his stablemate.

Hollywood, was good for $5.30. Asab's son, who was sixth place, trailing not only his first three home, but to the horses of Churchill Downs.

With regards, when the early pace, he took for Sir Walter to finish second in fourth and First Fiddle, who was first.

Bank of the Diver came such other high-handicapped, speedier standard bearers as Hollywood in the place and Asab's son, Far down the track at the finish came the little fellow from deep in the heart of the Kentucky Derby, who never got it in and was eased.

CROWD LIKED IT But despite the defeat of all these, the crowd, they knew, every one in the pelotage, variously estimated at from 80,000 to 100,000, that this was the image of the Derby, another generation was winning this one for daddy.

That was the big thing, even more than the $642,300 pay-off he had won, or the $5,000 prize that is also in the prize package.

It was the big thing, even more than the $642,300 pay-off he had won, or the $5,000 prize that is also in the prize package.

Then the morning of the race would come that he had a kidney trouble that comes to horses from over-exercising. He was scratched.

ARRO GUESSES WRONG But Saturday still ended things up. And, ironically, once more, Eddie Aronson seemed wrong. As contract riders as Mrs. Whitney's stable, he was the best of the best, generally regarded as the best jockey in the business, had his pick of Devil Diver or Star Out.

All last year, able to make the most of the chances that came out, because he thought the chocolate gallop was the best of the best. But in most cases, Devil Diver, the honors. Throughout this last year, the best of the best, he had been the best.

Finally he chose the son of St. Genie, a two-decay winner in "Twenty Grand and Bold Venture." So, Walter, from home, Edward and the whipping he took from requested in the Plumbing.

For the third time in three years.

LOUISVILLE, April 4.—(NEA)—Including Saturday's Kentucky Derby Joseph Matthew Moran has been on the track during the running of more than 30,000 races without ever having seen the finish of one. Joe Moran, you see, is the outrider at Churchill Downs.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

TORONTO, May 4.—(CP)—Fuh story: Reporters at the provincial fair battery at Nelson, B.C., must have thought they had taken too much of the old elixir a few weeks ago when one of the strange babes of trout in history came to the point in every race, but you never see him at the finish.

Though he has not missed a racing day in 25 years and doesn't expect to, the future, it is unlikely that Moran will ever be at the finish line for as long as he is active in his present capacity.

MORAN'S UNIQUE JOB CREATED BY ACCIDENT As soon as the starting buzzer goes off and the horses are in the race, Moran's job is to get to the back side of the track as soon as possible in order to give whatever help necessary to jockeys pulling up. And from there, in place on the back side which he usually reaches before the horses finish, it is impossible for Moran to see the wire because of the crowd, odd-board and trees.

Incidentally, Moran's old jockey points out that his unique occupation was created by accident. The value of having a land pony side horses to the post was discovered when the horses were being led to the judges' room to and from their stalls around the track on horseback.

Officials noticed that 2-year-olds quickly as they followed the patrol judge's pony as he rode in front of them toward the start. As a result they employed a regular outrider for the 1916-17 winter season. Today there is an outrider at every American track.

"Given a good start, enable a monkey could do the job as well as a man," explains Moran. "It's no trouble to stop a pony with your seat sense under a hot horse after a race if you've got it. The monkey can do it. It's a stick out his hand and the horse will walk in."

HAS BEEN THERE ALL EXCEPT MAN'S WAR The job is not a very glamorous one, but for more than one horse, apparently at ease in the post, it is a very important job. It is the job of the post, the job of the post, the job of the post.

With times on each side of you going to the post, "it keeps you and your pony busy to keep from being taken alive."

Moran has taken horses past-walk at Lincoln Field since his job, except for the six years he is confined with Kentucky tracks. He is the outrider at Arlington Park, Oaklawn Park, he has brought 'em out in New Orleans.

Moran, who has been in the top of the post 25 years to the post, with the exception of Man of the West, has been in the top of the post 25 years to the post.

A horse meeting is being held on Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Corona and all teams should be represented.

EFFICIENT WEAPONS MADE IN DOMINION

Canadian Factories Turning Out Anti-Aircraft Guns

Obscured by the haze of New Order intrigue is the fate of the potent French fleet, one-time staunch defender of the free seas. Photo shows French warships of an unidentified class moving through a smoke-screen during manoeuvres in the Mediterranean. Chart below lists ship strength by classes.

Maybe it won't trim your figure to match Frances Rafferty of the movies, but if you will stand on the disc, swing the body and arms for five minutes, the reducing result purportedly will equal a two-mile hike.

Among the many guns being turned out by Canadian ordnance factories, one of the larger is the 3.7" anti-aircraft gun which hurls a 55 pound shell over six miles. The gun weighs almost as much as a standard city bus and costs five times as much. At left a factory scene showing rows of 3.7" barrels. At right a completed unit is being tested on the proving range. Two large manufacturers of electrical equipment co-operate in the production of this crack gun and carriage which consist of more than 1,700 separate parts. Eight other types of guns, four of which are on mobile mountings, are now being made in Canada.

Instructions For Commandos

Lord Lovat, dashing scion of a famous Scottish military family, is shown reading orders to his Commando forces just before they shoved off for their recent daring and successful raid on the German-held French port of Boulogne.

Honeymoon—In Australia

Numerous marriages between U.S. soldiers and local girls in Australia have been reported in press dispatches, but the above honeymoon photo is the first to show a pair of newlyweds. The bridegroom is an unidentified U.S. airman; the bride is the former Gloria Harrison, 22.

Blitz Buster Barks

Today, with the forces of evil creeping ever closer to Canada's coasts, the country is looking with increasing interest to the modern, well-equipped Army trained in camps throughout Canada. Here a crew of air trained artillerymen is shown firing a field gun during an artillery demonstration.

Movies Don't Know Her Face
—But Her Name Is Very Familiar

How are you on a movie quiz? Try this one: She's a British actress. You'll recognize her name immediately. But do you know her? Just so you can't claim that you couldn't tell enough from the picture, here are two views, profile, at left, in a scene from her latest picture, and a full-face close-up at right. Give up? She's Sarah Churchill, comely actress daughter of Britain's Prime Minister Winston Churchill. The pictures above are from "Spring Meeting," in which Miss Churchill will make her American screen debut.

Bathing A Bomb

Fire fighters at the Westinghouse East Pittsburgh plant play a fine spray of water on an incendiary bomb to hasten its burning as part of weekly air raid drill.

Unhappy Birthday To You, Adolf

Crowds thronging New York's Times Square, above, pay fitting tribute to Adolf Hitler on his 53rd birthday—by hanging him in effigy and buying war bonds and stamps. At the right, a makeshift casket awaits "Der Fuehrer." The program was staged by Defence Savings Staff.
